

SUPERVISORS SLATED TO WIND UP SESSION AT WAUKEGAN TODAY

March Meeting Is Brief— Candidates to Resume Campaigning

The Lake county board of supervisors in session this week for the last time under the chairmanship of Supervisor Harry Stratton, of Lake Villa, probably will come to a close today after a quiet session.

Following the close of the session members of the board who are candidates for re-election will resume their campaigning.

County Spends $26,726.69.
Expenses during the last quarter were $6,229.86, and expenses at the county hospital were $20,496.83 for the same period.

Higher salaries asked for various county officers aroused the interest of supervisors. Among these was a $50 a month increase granted to Chief Deputy Sheriff Kennedy.

Action on Gas Tax Delayed.
Final action on disposition of $184,000 in gas tax money to be received from the state by Lake county will not be taken until the April meeting, the board decided yesterday.

During that time an investigation will be made to determine whether the money must be used for building roads or whether the state law permits it to be used for retreating road bonds.

Two Antioch B. B. Squads Will Play in Tournaments Tonight

St. Peter's Plays Elgin M. E. Church; Town Team to Go to Waukegan

Members of the St. Peter's squad left today for Elgin, where they play their first game of the church tournament with the First M. E. church of Elgin, who placed second in last year's tourney.

The contest, which is the second of its kind to be held in northern Illinois for church teams within a radius of 150 miles of Elgin, is being held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, today, tomorrow and Saturday.

The St. Peter's team has entered ten men, but it is not certain whether they will all be able to leave their school work to play. They are: Ralph Thompson, Eugene Sheehan, Eugene Doyle, Clayton O'Haver, Barrett Snyder, William Waters, Francis Walsh, Dudley Kennedy, Robert Pacini, and Charles Paddock; George Wagner will act as manager.

Town Team Plays Tonight.
The Antioch town team, who drew a bye in the first annual Lake county amateur independent cake tourney, sponsored by the Waukegan Industrial Athletic association, play their first game tonight at the Waukegan high school gymnasium, with the winner of the Waukegan American Steel Wire Mills-Lake Forest Young Men's Club game, which was played last night.

Fourteen teams, represented as being the best in Lake county, are entered. They are: Waukegan Johnson Motors, Waukegan Stomont Studio, Lake Bluff, Wilmette Fell's Clothing, Fowler's, Grayslake, Westdale A. C., Community Five, Welch's All-Stars, Trojan, Lake Forest, Len's Barbors, Lake Forest Young Men's Club, Antioch, and American Steel.

The Stomont Studio aggregation took in the Johnson Motors team on Tuesday night, 19-13; Fell's Clothing's fell before Lake Bluff, 23-22; Fowler's Real Estate defeated Grayslake, 28-16.

Antioch boys entered to play on the town team aggregation are Lloyd Murrie, Charles Wertz, Harry Willott, Oliver Hughes, Raymond Van Patten, Morris Down and Richard Folbrink.

Tiffany to Meet Johnson at Palace In Wrestling Bout

Al Tiffany, who was entitled the best wrestler in the Big Ten conference while he attended the University of Wisconsin, is slated to face Nick Johnson, Waukegan wrestler, at the Palace tomorrow night. Although Tiffany is fast, clever, and has an unusual college record, it is expected the bout will be evenly matched, as Johnson has been in training.

Six of the finest boxing matches possible have been arranged for that evening.

Miss Ada China and her mother spent from last Wednesday until Saturday with the Clayton King family, in Chicago. After Miss China had returned to Kansas City, Mrs. China remained for a few days longer, returning Tuesday morning.

MOOSE LODGE TO INITIATE EIGHTEEN MORE NEW MEMBERS

Total membership in the Antioch Moose lodge, No. 1245, will be swelled to more than 150 next Monday evening when another initiation for new members will be held, with the degree work carried out by the Kenosha unit. It is expected that about eighteen will enter the lodge at that time. The Waukegan, North Chicago and Highland Park lodges have been invited to be present, as well as a number of the principal officers at Moosehart, Ill.

ANTIOCH MEN FLY TO OKLAHOMA CITY

Walter Scott and S. B. Nelson Are Guest Passengers in Speedy Trip

Returning last night from a 2-day airplane jaunt to Oklahoma City, Walter Scott and S. B. Nelson can justly claim to have made the speediest round trip for that distance ever made from Antioch.

The trip, which was of a business nature, was made in a Lockheed-Vega cabin monoplane, and the Antioch men were invited guests of an Oklahoma City gentleman who makes week-end trips to his home town.

Across State in 56 Minutes.
Just to gain some idea of what real speed is, imagine starting from the Municipal airport, Chicago, at 11:30 and dropping down to lunch at Kansas City, Mo., two and a half hours later. Then two hours after leaving Kansas City the plane landed in Oklahoma City, a total distance of 750 miles, airline. The passengers bear witness to the fact that they sighted the Mississippi river in just 56 minutes after leaving the Chicago airport.

Taking off at noon yesterday, the plane made the return trip in 4 hours and 45 minutes, slightly longer than the time required for the southward trip, which was due, the pilot said, to an adverse wind.

The snow, which was the worst of the year for northern Illinois, gradually grew less as the fliers sped southward, and no snow at all was seen after passing the Kansas-Oklahoma state line.

Declined invitation to walk.
Although the trip was of but a few hours' duration, the pilot was considerate and solicitous of his guest passengers and once suggested that if tired of riding they might get out and walk. Nelson and Scott declined the invitation as they were soaring at an altitude of 7,000 feet. Both men enjoyed the trip very much and declare they are ready for another at any time.

Celebrates 80 Birthday in Boulder, Col.
D. H. White, well known Lake county resident, recently celebrated his eightieth birthday at Boulder, Colo., where he is spending the winter. On that occasion he received about fifty greeting cards from his friends.

It is interesting to note how Mr. White has lived his eighty years. He was born in Antioch township just a few miles east of this village in February, 1851, and he lived on the farm until 1901, when he moved to a farm near Elgin, where he was born until he was nearly 70 years old. Then he moved to Millburn, where he resides in that part of the town of Antioch. He originally is a voter in this high school district.

AMBROSE RUNYARD IS PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Aged Pioneer Dead at Farm Home Here—Born in 1853

Ambrose Runyard, 78, a pioneer resident here, died early today at his farm home northwest of Antioch, a victim of pneumonia. A few days ago he emerged victorious over the malady, but a relapse proved fatal. His demise occurred at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Philip T. Bohl at the Antioch Methodist church Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Born in England.
Mr. Runyard was born in Dorset, England, June 27, 1853, the son of John and Mary Runyard. He came with his parents to America when but 3 years of age, the family locating on a farm near Willmot in Kenosha county, Wis. He has been a life long resident of this locality, living on the same farm and having some of the same neighbors for over half a century.

He was preceded in death by a former wife and one daughter, Elizabeth, and is survived by his wife and five sons: Eugene M., Waukegan; Wilson, Clarence, Gerald and Stanley.

REGION AS IDEAL
PARK LOCATION

Cites Need of Fox River Improvement at Regional Meet

J. C. James, of Antioch, boosted Lake county and urged the improvement of Fox river and recreational facilities of the region at the eighth annual meeting of the Chicago Regional Planning association at the Palmer House in Chicago Friday, March 6.

This association was formed eight years ago for the purpose of developing and maintaining improvements in the entire Chicago area. Plans and suggestions for widening roads within this area, and in southern Wisconsin and northwestern Indiana, were discussed; modern methods of grade separations were brought out, and the improvement in attractiveness and width of Wisconsin roads leading to Chicago, which must pass through Lake county, were subjects for lectures in the morning session.

The afternoon session was devoted to discussion of river restoration, purifying and beautifying, requirements for recreational preserves and the relation of power planning to regional planning. A resume of the work of the past year was given.

At the election of officers and trustees which was held, Daniel H. Burnham and Robert Kingery were re-elected president and secretary, respectively.

Mr. James expanded upon the possibilities of Lake county with its fifty-six lakes, and pointed out how appropriate this region is for a state park.

Peter Manning, of Chicago, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith, of Channel Lake.

points with parlorable pride to the fact that he has never missed voting at a presidential election since that first vote.

The News is proud to count Mr. White among the number of oldest readers, as he has been a subscriber since the date of the first issue, nearly fifty years ago.

PETTY TAKES HELM OF LAKE COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM

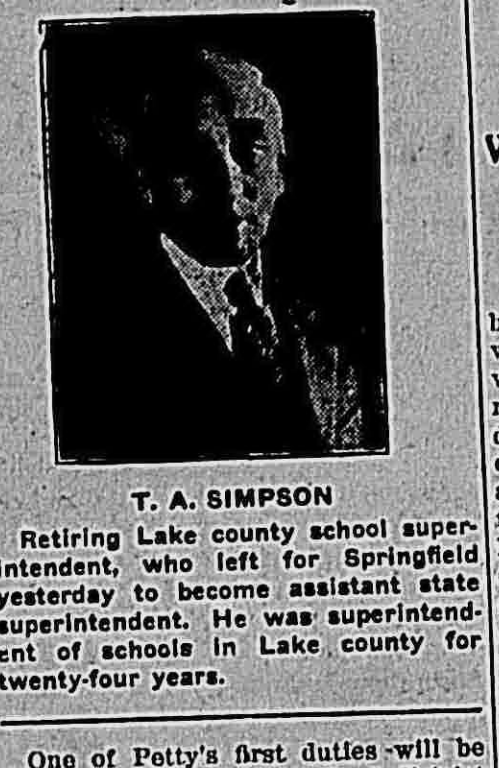

W. C. PETTY

William C. Petty, Lake county superintendent-elect, yesterday assumed that office by virtue of appointment by the board of supervisors, to fill the unexpired term of T. A. Simpson, who resigned the office to become assistant state superintendent.

Simpson was to have retired next August 1, when Mr. Petty would have assumed the office, but the former's appointment to the state post caused Mr. Petty to resign as supervising principal of the Antioch grade schools to take over his county duties.

Appointment of Mr. Petty was one of the first acts of the supervisor board members when they met Tuesday.

T. A. SIMPSON

Retiring Lake county school superintendent, who left for Springfield yesterday to become assistant state superintendent. He was superintendent of schools in Lake county for twenty-four years.

One of Petty's first duties will be to supervise the Avon school district special election Saturday, when residents will again vote on the district which was dissolved last fall.

The county supervisors passed a resolution expressing appreciation of Mr. Simpson's twenty-four years of service.

Clabaugh Succeeds Petty.
Succeeding Mr. Petty as supervising principal of the Antioch grade schools, the school board yesterday announced the employment of Ralph Clabaugh, graduate of Eastern Illinois State Teachers' college, Charleston. Mr. Clabaugh comes very well recommended as a successful teacher. He assumed charge of the schools here yesterday.

Blizzard Holds Antioch B. B. Fans In Waukegan 2 Days

Thirty-five Antiochites, including five Antioch high school instructors, the basketball team and about twenty enthusiasts were marooned in Waukegan for two days, Sunday and Monday, while the storm raged, and the roads remained impassable.

Several cars attempted to reach Antioch after the first of the Saturday evening games, and were successful, but the thirty-five who remained for the later games were all forced to return to Waukegan after repeatedly being blocked or stuck.

Members of the team were feted to an oyster supper Saturday evening by Miss Lillian Schroder and her mother at Lake Forest, but they all were able to reach Waukegan for the games.

Enjoy Stay.
The Karcher hotel management arranged rates and meals so that even those who would have been forced to practice strict economy under ordinary circumstances, lived in regular hotel style. The music room was constantly at the disposal of the Antioch people, who enlivened the hours with songs, both old and new. Those staying at the hotel have become confirmed Karcherites.

Sunday evening, two hours were passed at the Genesee theatre, where "The Criminal Code" was shown.

Late Monday afternoon one car did reach Antioch by going to Kenosha, but the others waited and followed in the wake of the snow-plow on the Belviders road to Grayslake, and then home on Route 21. The adventure was over.

Taylor Trunks to Play at Libertyville

Final arrangements for the appearance at Libertyville of the Taylor Trunks, United States champion girls' basketball team, or the night of March 19, were completed at the regular meeting of the Libertyville American Legion post last Monday night.

A picked Legion team will play the girls' team at the high school gymnasium on the night of March 19, with a preliminary game between Foulds Milling and Fort Sheridan. The Taylor Trunks have defeated the House of David twice this season.

The performance will be given for the benefit of the Boy Scouts and the American Legion Post 329.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Selter and daughter spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Craveu, of Harvey, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Somerville spent from Wednesday until Friday of last week with the Harold Johnson family, at Marengo, Ill.

Raymond Schwartz, Murphysboro, arrived here today for a visit with his sister, Mrs. S. Boyer Nelson, and family.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church recently was divided into four circles for the purpose of sponsoring social affairs in support of the church. The first affair of this nature will be conducted next Wednesday noon, when the circle under the leadership of Mrs. H. B. Gaston holds a public luncheon. A charge of 50 cents per plate will be made. Immediately following the luncheon, the ladies will hold their regular meeting.

Paul Richey Averages 95% In Six Weeks

Majority of Grade School Children Found to Be Normal Weight

The honor roll for the fourth 6-week period has been announced. It is as follows:

Fifth grade—George Hawkins, 93; Bernice Sherman, 92; Florence Hackett, 91; Ernestine Robbins and Charles Miller, 90; Valota Baethke, 89.

Sixth grade—Mary Louise Snyder, 92; Ruth Alice Cannon and Harvey Miller, 91; Winnie King, 90; Jayne Ailner, 89.

In a recent examination of 199 grade school students, the following results were tabulated:

Pupils underweight..... 25
Pupils overweight..... 40
Pupils normal..... 130

Since the previous examination, thirteen have corrected defective vision, and forty-three had tonsils and adenoids removed; however, a number of defects still remain to be corrected, as listed:

Vision, 62; tonsils, 98; adenoids, 95; glands, 90; posture, 2; skin, 2; heart, 1; other defects, 2.

Thirteen were found to be physically perfect, and two were perfect physically and dentally.

Pirates are Realistic.
"Treasure Island" told the story of the search for the buried treasure of old Captain Flint. The fight between the pirates, headed by Long John Silver, and the voyagers, captained by Squire Trelawney and Jim Hawkins, was staged in a very realistic manner, and the casualties were large. The lines in this piece were short and choppy, and the manner in which the boys gave them indicated careful study. The voice of the prompter, which often made amateur productions, was almost entirely absent. Stage business had been mastered, and the players as a whole gave a performance which was a distinct credit to them.

In the cast were Arthur Merrill, who very realistically became "Jim," the hero and cabin boy; Helen Strang, Oliver Grutzmacher; Lester Chinn, William Duffy; Armand Delagard; John Koukol; Frank Merrill; Frank Vorkester; Franklin Grandell; Kenneth Crowley; Paul Richey; Robert Brogan; Irving Walsh; Arden Van Patten; Oliver Hunt; Warren Miller; Zavier Hawkins; Donald Hackett; Cropley Phillips; Ralph Monnier; Richard Burnette; Bruce Delagard; Lyle Horton; Nels Peterson; John Turndach; Clarence Versteck; Albert Vykuta; Dean Williams; Lawrence Van Patten; Kenneth Mortenson; Christian Paschen; Ray (Continued on page eight)

KNIVES, PIRATES DELIGHT AUDIENCE

Finished Acting in Plays Is Said by Critics to Be Uncommonly Fine

Adventure and romance were presented over the footlights to an audience which comfortably filled the high school auditorium, by the gaily dressed knaves, colorful pirates, king, queen, pages and adventurers Friday evening, when the seventh and eighth grades enacted two plays, "The Knave of Hearts," by Louise Saunders, and "Treasure Island," a dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's novel, by Ruth P. Kimball. The plays were presented by the pupils under the sponsorship of the grade school Parent-Teacher Association and were given to raise funds for the school piano recently purchased by the association.

Girls' Fantasy Pleases.
"The Knave of Hearts" was a whimsical bit based on the old nursery rhyme of the same name. It was laid in the court kitchen of Pompadour, King of Hearts, and perhaps its biggest moment was when the Lady Violetta baked some tarts which ultimately were the cause of her becoming the Queen of Hearts. In this limited space it is impossible to analyze the work of each character, except to remark that all the players seemed to have caught the subtle humor of the piece and thoroughly enjoyed their work. Agnes Christensen, as the Knave of Hearts, undoubtedly was the outstanding actress.

The performance, as given Friday night, compared favorably with one the writer saw several years ago, given by students of a nearby university.

FRIENDS OF THE CRIMINAL

There has been more enthusiasm than logic in many so-called cures for crime. Ceaseless demands for more laws, more and more restrictions, have unconsciously been an ally of the underworld. If America is a "lawless" country, it is largely the fault of our lawmakers.

The wealthiest, sequestered and most aggressive underworld in existence has become established. Recently we have been treated to exposes of the relations between criminals and police and judges. We have been shown how clever lawyers, aided by technicalities, can save the most hardened thug or murderer from justice. We should have learned by now the utter folly of passing more laws in the hope of curbing the criminal. The statute books through their complications are often his best friends.

THE LEADING ECONOMIC PROBLEM

During the next few years rising taxes may prove to be our foremost economic problem.

Cost of government has gotten beyond control. Local divisions of government, especially, grow increasingly wasteful and inefficient. And in some states there is a well-defined tendency to put government into some business or other—at the expense of the poor taxpayer.

The taxpayer is not entirely blameless. His laziness and lack of interest in economic problems has given tacit consent to governmental extravagance, and has influenced the spread and development of powerful bureaucracies. Eternal vigilance on the part of voting and taxpaying citizens is necessary to good government.

Unless the great mass of Americans show a new spirit toward the government, the near future will bring tax increases of almost unimaginable proportions. The wind blows that way, and only an active public consciousness can prevent it.

WORSE THAN WAR!

During eighteen months of the World War, 50,510 members of the American Expeditionary Force were killed in action or died of wounds.

During the eighteen months preceding January, 1931, 50,900 people were killed in automobile accidents in this country.

There could be no better illustration of the seriousness of the automobile accident situation.

According to a survey by the Travelers Insurance Company, the leading cause of accidents in 1930 was failure to give right of way, which accounted for 15 per cent of deaths and 31.5 per cent of injuries. Second was excessive speed, which was responsible for 21 per cent of all accidents, and third, driving on the wrong side of the road, which totaled 16 per cent.

Higher speed is a natural result of improved roads and cars. But the other two primary causes of accidents—which together accounted for 27 per cent of deaths and 47.7 per cent of injuries—amount to simple ignorance, recklessness or carelessness. They show improper training on the part of the motorist, coupled with inadequate enforcement of traffic laws. That such accidents could be at least partially curbed by examining and licensing laws, and by adequate enforcement of modernized traffic codes, is well within the limits of plausibility.

Every year complete and detailed resumes of the previous year's accident record are prepared. Study of them should show what enforcement is needed, what can be accomplished. A few states, in a period of rising hazards, have managed to appreciably decrease accidents within their borders. All other states can do the same.

The government has never shown much aptitude for real business. The Congress will not permit it to be conducted by a competent executive, but constantly intervenes. The most free, progressive and satisfactory method ever devised for the equitable distribution of property is to permit the people to care for themselves by conducting their own business. They have more wisdom than any government.—Calvin Coolidge, in a recent syndicated article.

Well, we'll bet a lot of folks got cold feet last Saturday.

Did you ever buy a disappointment? We have. And did you ever feel that a disappointment had been a bargain? We've done that, too.

The makers of Mule-Hide roofing have begun to emboss their famous trademark on every piece, together with a number indicating the weight of that particular piece. It's mighty expensive to be too good natured.

The first cold weather of the year always brings a rush of coal orders. We are glad to have them, of course, but it is sometimes humbly impossible to deliver all orders as promptly as we'd like. Can't we put in a load for you now?

To date, we haven't heard of a single aviator complaining because his parachute didn't open.

We are in the lumber business, but we don't sell lumber. Nor do you buy lumber. You buy homes and barns and repair work. The material is incidental. That's why we stress the service end of our business. If we can help you realize your plans and ideas, the lumber business will look after itself.

No, young people aren't as quiet as they used to be. But neither are the old folks.

This column is at the disposal of our readers who may be confronted with knotty legal problems pertaining to the use and operation of their automobile. Write your questions to "Ask Me" Editor, care of this paper and they will be answered in a forthcoming issue. Enclose a stamped envelope for an immediate reply.

Is one limited to a certain time in filing suit for property damage or for personal injury? Arnold Wheeler.

ANS.: Yes. The statute of limitations in Illinois on property damage is five years. On personal injuries, two years.

I took my car to a garage to have repairs done. The work is finished, but the garage owner will not give me the car unless I settle in full. Can they hold my car legally? K.L.B.

ANS.: Yes. The garage man has a lien on the automobile for the work done and can hold the car until his bill is paid.

Who pays the court costs to start a suit? Arthur B.

ANS.: The plaintiff. Every litigant must pay his own court costs. The Illinois law makes it a crime for one person to pay the court costs of another. Usually, in the event the plaintiff wins his suit, court costs are assessed against the defendant.

I live in Chicago and had an automobile accident with a man living in Evanston. Where should I file suit? E. O. Nelson.

ANS.: The suit should be started in the jurisdiction in which the defendant lives. Evanston being in Cook County, you can start suit before any Justice of the Peace in Cook County.

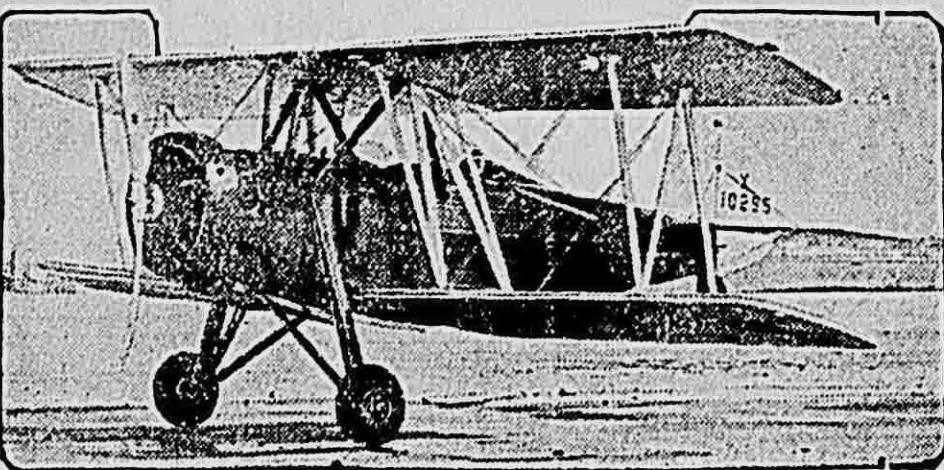

We own and operate several trucks and pay considerable money for licenses and state gasoline tax. Can this be deducted in figuring our income tax? Carl.

ANS.: Yes, all fees paid in taxes of any nature to the state government are deductible in full in computing your Federal income tax.

I prosecuted a man for reckless driving and although the defendant was fined, the judge told me I could not collect for my damages in his court. Is that the law? C.L.

ANS.: Yes, the reckless driving charge was of a criminal nature and the court only has power to punish the defendant for his wrongful acts. You should file a civil suit in a civil court to collect for your damages.

This Seems to Make Flying Quite Safe

Here is the airplane of a new type, designed by Albert A. Merrill and successfully tested at the Glenn Curtiss airport on Long Island. Apparently it cannot dive, stall or spin, and the pilot, cutting off the power several hundred feet in the air and taking his hands from the controls, landed it gently and slowly.

How to play Bridge AUCTION or CONTRACT by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1930, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 9

Here is a recent description of Auction Bridge that is well worthy of quoting:

"Auction is the finest card game that ever was devised for the delight of mankind. It is also highly educational, giving the best of training to the faculties of memory, observation, and logical deduction, besides developing the imagination and teaching practical psychology."

In that connection the following story is very much to the point:

"Leaving one of the largest Bridge clubs in the country the other day with two friends who had lost heavily, I heard one of them say:

"I wish I had never learned to play this darn game."

"The other player said: 'I wish that I had.'"

The second speaker was right, of course. Why not learn to play better Bridge? If you really try, you can improve your game; but there's no royal road to learning. The more you give in study and thought to the game, the more it will give to you in pleasure and mental development. It will also pay mighty good cash dividends. A careful study of the following end plays is one way to improve an important part of your game, so take full advantage of the opportunity.

End Play No. 1

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win five of the six tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead the jack of clubs and Y should discard the jack of spades. B's play is immaterial. Z should now lead the seven of spades and Y should discard the ten of hearts. A is thus forced in the lead with the eight of spades and must lead hearts up to Z's hand. No matter what A and B now play, Z must win the balance of the tricks.

End Play No. 2

Spades—J

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win four of the five tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead the seven of diamonds and trump in Y's hand with the six of spades. Y should now lead the jack of clubs. B must trump this or Z will take a heart discard and can then only lose one heart trick. When B trumps, Z should overtrump, thus winning the trick. Z should then lead the seven of hearts which A can cover or play under. If A covers, Y should play a higher card. For example, suppose A plays the eight of hearts. Y should play the ten and B should win the trick with the jack. B must now lead a heart and Y Z must win the next two tricks. Note that if Z leads any card at trick three other than the seven of hearts, A B will win two tricks. For example, suppose Z leads the nine of hearts. A should play the queen and Y can either win or refuse to win the trick. If he wins it, he must lead a heart and A B must win two tricks. If he refuses to win it, A should lead a heart and B must thus win a heart trick with the jack.

End Play No. 3

Hearts—J, 8
Clubs—J, 8
Diamonds—none
Spades—J, 4

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win two tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead the four of spades which B is forced to win with the eight spot. B should now lead the seven of hearts. Z should discard the eight of clubs and Y should trump. Y should now lead the five of diamonds. If B trumps, Z should overtrump. If B discards, Z also should and A is forced to win the trick with the top trump. In either case Y Z must win one more trick.

End Play No. 4

Hearts—J, 6
Clubs—10, 9, 4
Diamonds—none
Spades—none

Hearts—8
Clubs—K, 7, 2
Diamonds—10
Spades—none

Diamonds are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win three tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead the ten of diamonds and Y should discard the ten of clubs. B should discard the deuce of hearts. Z should now lead the deuce of clubs. A can either win this trick with the queen of clubs or let B win with the jack. If the latter, B can only make the queen of hearts and Y Z must win the balance of the tricks. The best defense is for A to win the second trick with the queen of clubs and on this trick Y should play the nine of clubs. A should then lead the ten of hearts and Y should refuse to cover. If he does, A B will thus win the balance of the tricks. When A is allowed to win the trick with the ten of hearts, he is forced to lead clubs up to the king seven in Z's hand. Z thus wins the balance of the tricks.

Note that this final play is impossible unless Y had played the ten and nine of clubs on the first two tricks.

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 8. The Golden Text was, "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way" (Psalm 37:23).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord" (Psalm 1:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "So far as the scientific statement as to man is understood, it can be proved and will bring to light the true reflection of God—the real man, or the new man (as St. Paul has it)" (p. 300).

out. Scoring in the first quarter was very even, ending in Palatine's favor, 7-6. In the second quarter, Keulman sank a fine long shot, and all of the players discarded their initial nervousness. With Antioch leading at the beginning of the fourth, 18-14, Fuchs was taken out on foul. Palatine then bridged the gap, tying the score. From that moment pandemonium caught the Antioch rooters, and mounted as the teams kept abreast. With three minutes to go, the score stood 21-21. Palatine scored a basket, and with but one minute to go, the Antioch hopes were desperate, when Hughes evened the matter with a long shot. In the last fifteen seconds, Hughes saved the game from overtime with a successful one-hand flip.

Lake View Eliminated.
Another "hair-raiser" was witnessed Thursday evening, when Libertyville nosed out Lake View, the remaining Chicago school in the race, in the third overtime. This game was observed with keen interest, as Antioch was scheduled to play the victor. Jan-teson, whose basket won the game, was a consistent scorer during the entire game.

Wauconda Comes Through.
Wauconda men, playing their first game of the tournament with Elia on Friday evening, easily took the game, 22-9. Deersfield-Shields, playing the second game Friday evening, proved to be Waukegan's most difficult opponent, and only admitted defeat after an overtime which ended in their thoroughly scared opponent's win, 23-22.

Antioch Defeated.
Lack of unity in passwork and nervousness among the Antioch players against Libertyville's evident strength and superiority, ended all Antioch's championship hopes, 26-12. Brogan, Smith and Fuchs were the only Antioch scorers, while Libertyville's men all scored about equally well.

Waukegan put up a scrappy fight, endangering Waukegan's lead several times during the game Saturday afternoon. Waukegan led at the end of the first quarter, 6-3, but two baskets by Luosa, Waukegan's effective forward, sent his team ahead. In the fourth quarter Dowell, Waukegan guard, tied the score, 23-23, but were unable to gain the necessary winning points, and were defeated, 27-25.

Waukegan Takes Third.
Brown's basket in an overtime game Saturday evening between Waukegan and Antioch to determine the third and fourth winners, sent the Waukegan team into third position. Action was slow during the early part of the game, and at the half Waukegan led, 16-10, but in the first minute of the second half, Antioch piled up seven points. From that time until the close, the game was in doubt every minute. Antioch scorers were King, Keulman, Fuchs, Turk and Brogan, who was almost infallible on free shots.

Waukegan Is District Champ.
In consideration of their performance during the entire tournament, Libertyville was expected to give Waukegan a real fight, but they were no match for the scoring of Stanczek, Daydief, Christensen, Podboy and Luosa, and were defeated, 34-20.

Gathering Russian Grain to Dump on Markets

Giving an idea of how Russia is engaged in gathering all the wheat raised throughout the vast domain in order to dump it on the world's markets at a low price, this photograph of one of the stations in Asiatic Russia shows peasants bringing in their grain.

The bystander asked: "Why does not the village spend about a hundred dollars to have the streets cleaned of snow? This could be paid out of the vehicle tax fund, and would provide employment at a time when it is most needed. At $5 per day $100 would pay twenty men for the day's work."

Just mention vehicle tax and you can always start an argument in Antioch. Let's see how the village fared in the matter of vehicle tax money during the fiscal year closing last May 1. The year started with $158.18 in the treasury, the amount turned over by Treasurer Rising to the succeeding treasurer, J. E. Brook. This amount was augmented by the payment of $1,537.35 by automobile owners who purchased license tags during the year. Add to this $718.30 received from the county treasurer, $23 refunded by Jos. B. Malloy for something or other, and a whole $20 (think of it—twenty bucks) in fines turned into the treasury by Justice Sam Tarbell, making a grand total of $2,765.33 for the street and alley fund.

After paying out most of the fund for street and alley repair, appropriating $100 for the village clerk's salary, and paying the treasurer, J. E. Brook, $27.07, 1/2 of 1 per cent of the funds handed in this department, there remained a balance of $71.18 with which to begin the present year.

It is understood the village board recommended that an emergency fund be set aside to be used for cleaning streets of snow, but this was not done. Thus riding streets of snow has been a matter of private enterprise among the merchants and householders, except of course the state routes that are always kept open by the state highway maintenance department.

There is money for street cleaning purposes, according to President George B. Bartlett, who yesterday directed the street and alley committee to get the snow off of Main street.

Taxpayers interested in the expenditures made from the vehicle tax money should peruse the next publication of the village treasurer's report, directed by law to be published within thirty days after the close of the fiscal year, April 30, 1931. The report should be made public some time during the month of May.

THE COMMUNITY AND ITS BANKS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

R. C. STEPHENSON

While upon the individual bankers there rests without qualification the direct responsibility for the prudent, honest conduct of their institutions, nevertheless the soundness of banking as a practical matter of fact is a community problem in which the public has a part to play as well as bankers and government officials charged with the supervision of banks.

In the first place, the assets of a bank, outside its government bonds, consist mainly of loans to business men and of investments in securities created by corporate enterprises. The deposits of a bank are not kept in the vaults as idle cash but are employed in these loans and investments to earn the money to pay the expenses of the bank so that it can render services to its customers and also pay them interest on such deposits as bear interest. If there were no such thing as unsound business men or enterprises there would be no such thing as unsound assets in a bank.

It is of course the unquestioned duty of the banker to choose only sound loans and investments, but the difficulty of such judgment, and human judgment is never infallible, is plainly increased in such times and under such conditions as we have been passing through, with many businesses not making expected earnings and therefore hampered in meeting their obligations. Unfortunately some investments and loans created by persons outside the banks which found their way into the banks in a relatively few instances have reflected the unwise business policies and conditions that became more than usually prevalent in our business activities and contributed to the difficulty of banking. The vast bulk of bank assets, however, are 100 per cent sound above all question.

"Hard Boiled" vs. "Easy" Banker
In another aspect the people of the community have a part to play in maintaining the soundness of their banks, and that is through the medium of patronage. The existence of a bank is dependent on public patronage. If only those banks were patronized in which the most careful policies were practiced and the most conscientious and able men in charge, it would go far toward maintaining the standards of banking. If business men in a community when refused loans by their banks for good and sufficient reasons because conditions are not favorable, thereupon withdraw their business to banks where less careful methods prevail, they clearly contribute to the creation of a less sound banking situation. Also if, in the heat of competition, a banker offers higher interest rates or more free service to attract customers than the earnings of conservative banking justify, and is encouraged by the patronage of the public as against a more conservative bank, obviously the public is again playing a part in bringing about a less sound banking situation. It is an unfortunate fact that the banker who is strict, "hard boiled" if you please, is liable to be less popular than the "easy" banker, and by that same token the public itself has a voice in influencing the character of banking. Also it is the public in the end which pays the main part of the penalty if unfortunate results follow.

Still again the public can exert an influence in shaping the character of banking by supporting the purposes of bankers to maintain intelligent, independent, honest banking supervision by the public banking departments through insisting that this function of government shall be kept as free from political influence as the judiciary itself and shall be manned only by men of the highest ability and character.

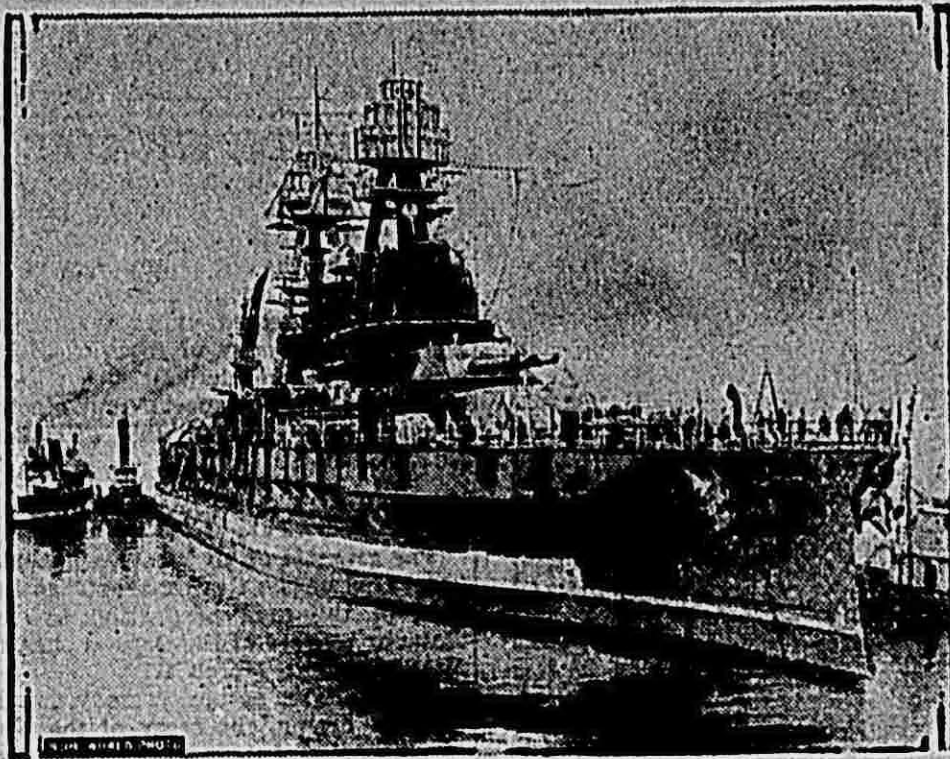

In still another way can the people themselves contribute to maintaining the ability of their banks to meet their obligations, and this is by granting them the fullest possible confidence. As I said, the deposits are not kept as cash but are invested in loans and securities. Even the soundest assets of this type require some time to convert at full value into cash deposits. In many cases of bank troubles the only thing wrong with a bank was an unduly suspicious and apprehensive state of mind in its customers created by no act or condition of its own but by baseless rumors which sometimes led them to destroy the value of their own deposits by demanding them immediately, forcing a bank to sacrifice its assets and otherwise disrupt its financial operations.

Bankers Help

During the year 1930 the Bankers' Association of Langlade County, Wisconsin, worked out the finances for a cooperative milk plant, which entailed the raising of $100,000, and also sponsored an active 4-H-Club campaign that culminated in an "Achievement Day" program, in which upwards of 400 young people participated. The increase in the number interested in this work was 200 per cent over the past two year period.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Toppo leaves home to follow his canary. After many adventures, he and his friends, Mr. Frog and Toy, the dwarf, cause the Cushions to fight the Pillows, their enemies. Thus they hope to rescue their Cloud-Queen, whose land is invaded by the Pillows. Toppo and Mr. Frog enter a secret room with a pool, but find they are unable to read the secrets as the Cloud-Queen could do. Mr. Frog dives into the pool. Continues:

Toppo ran to the edge of the pool but there was no trace of Mr. Frog. The water was still and green. As he peered over the edge, a faint mist seemed to collect somewhere in the depths.

"Maybe I can read the pool. Maybe there is a message. Maybe—" Toppo thought excitedly, as he watched a picture slowly form. Under the impression of his gaze, he imagined that he saw Mr. Frog sitting before a dark

Hints on the Colonial Home

The Colonial atmosphere created by furniture and wall-treatment is carried out in curtains echoing the framed sampler at the right.

THE vogue for Colonial atmosphere in the typical home of today calls for much care in the selection of furnishings if the simple charm of the early American dream is to be achieved.

The choice of the major furnishings has been much simplified. A gate-leg table or a butterfly, a ladder chair or a Windsor, a secretary or a spinet desk may be selected from well-styled and authentic reproductions and will be quite at home with any treasured "antiques."

It rests with the accessories, however, to achieve the final touch. They must be consistent throughout, or the entire effect of the room is lost. Pewter vessels and blue Willow-ware on the shelves, hooked rugs, a banjo clock, a framed sampler will all help to achieve an interior of distinction.

NARROW TRIM-LINES

This model of the new spring foot-wear is almost identical with one seen in the window of a shoe store this week. It is indicative of the present trend toward longer, narrower, more pointed slippers, with a longer vamp, and it informs us that contrasting colors for trimming will be designed in narrow lines. The small buckle completes the effect of the slender strap.

did not know. But at length he came easily to rest, all cramped up in a little heap before the tunnel. He tried to see where the tunnel led, but his eyes met blackness.

Through the rippling water, he could see the sides of the pool, which gleamed in rainbow colors. Timidly stretching out a hand, he touched the wall, but his hand pushed through the colors parted, and he could feel nothing hard.

"This is a funny place," thought Toppo.

He sat still for a long time, half fearing to move, afraid that he could not move.

When at last he stood up, and found that he could walk around, he was delighted. "I'll walk a little way past those colors in the wall," he decided. "They aren't hard, because I felt them. They won't stop me."

So he tried to walk through the wall of rainbow colors, but something hindered him. He could not feel anything, but he simply couldn't move forward.

"Maybe this is enchanted," Toppo wondered if a dragon would appear. This would be more thrilling to tell Mommy and Nancy than all the rest of his adventures. He almost hoped one would come, and was somewhat disappointed, when, after waiting in breathless silence for some time, nothing happened.

"I wish Mr. Frog would come back!" he exclaimed aloud. The sound of his voice under the water startled him, as it caused ripples to eddy about him. Glancing upward, he tried to see the top, but now all was a pearly gray mist. Even the colors in the wall had dimmed.

"There ought to be a goldfish around here. Everything is so still," Toppo mused. "I wonder if anything has happened."

But there was no sign of life, of goldfish, or of seaweed. In spite of the beauty of the place, there was nothing to do, and Toppo became restless. "I have been here a long, long time, and I haven't eaten since I've been here, or slept either," he cried out, feeling very surprised. He tried to feel hungry, but he couldn't. He tried to sleep, but sleep was impossible. So he paced around his rainbow cell, thinking of nothing.

And it was thus that Mr. Frog found him, when he returned through the tunnel.

Mirrors should never be cleaned with soap suds. The best results are obtained by rubbing them with a paste of whiting and water. Then polish with a dry chamois to remove the powder.

"Venus de Milo Hopelessly Shelved by Modern Sisters," Says Loretta Young

By Betty Bonsal

ANATOMICALLY we may be the same through the ages, but figure ideals have changed and, therefore, the figure proportions. At one time, the Venus de Milo with her broad shoulders and waist and thick torso was the standard of feminine beauty. A marvelous museum piece, as far as Miss 1931 is concerned—far too Herculean to win a beauty contest today.

Whether they are for sports or evening wear, the new styles which are being hailed as an alluring return to true femininity, are extremely exacting. It is no secret that the new clothes demand a new sort of good looks. There is no secret about anything, in fact! Miss 1931 stands revealed, whether she wears a sun-tan bathing suit, sports clothes or backless gown. Never has a good figure—slender yet softly rounded—meant so much, for the new styles are nothing more nor less than the graceful draping of the youthful ideal which is your energetic and radiantly beautiful modern miss.

New Measurements

Even the United States Government is taking a hand. Study of this all-important question by a corps of government scientists has gone so far as to define the new ideal with mathematical exactness. According to the standard of commercial measurement recently registered in Washington as the proportions of the average figure, Miss 1931, size 14, has a bust of 32, waist of 27 and hips of 35 inches.

For every girl who possesses such a figure, of course, there are thousands dieting to gain the rounded slimmings they would give the world to have. The irony of it is that so many lose in dieting the very beauty they are trying to achieve. Hollywood, which has been through all the throes of the food faddists and has learned its lesson, knows the secret. Out there pulchritude is queen, of course. The new ideal is commonplace on the movie lots. And yet, the answer is simple.

As Miss Loretta Young, charming First National star, whose figure typifies perfectly the ideal demanded by screen and fashions, explained it to the writer:

"It's been a painful lesson but the movie colonies have found out at last that the only successful dietary system is the common-sense one. The balanced diet is the only answer, because a healthy body, the first requisite to a clear and glowing complexion, must have several distinct types of nourishment. Loss of vitality, ill-health and bad complexion are inevitable effects of starvation.

"If your curves are too accentuated and your weight above normal, make certain that your health is what it should be, and take plenty of exercise. Then reduce the quantity of food you eat, and this is the important point—be sure that your diet every day includes some of each of the following food groups:

"Sugar and starches, among the least fattening of which are fruits, vegetables and crisp cereals.

"Proteins, such as fish, lean meat, milk, and eggs—avoid fat meats.

"Mineral foods, including celery, spinach, chard, lettuce, cabbage, tomatoes.

"Vitamins, which are found in apples, raw cabbage, lettuce, lemons, liver, milk, oranges, grapefruit, fresh pineapple.

"Roughage of the least fattening sorts, such as bran, lettuce, celery, cabbage, string beans, asparagus."

eventually commands more respect from them. The reason is apparent to those who know him in both his school and his home circles. In the latter, his family is "accepted," giving him a birthright of "belonging"; he, too, is accepted, and is given no reason for doubting himself.

COMPANIONS IN EARLY CHILDHOOD
MOLD PERSONALITYGuard Against Any Loss of Natural Confidence and Future Self Respect

What are those qualities which compose a pleasing personality? Many mothers, engrossed in caring for their children, are too near them to view problems with the proper perspective, and are indignant, or merely amazed, when their children fail to be chosen class president, prom queen, in the merit division, etc.

Personality is not alone a matter of inheritance. Numberless incidents during the early life of the child determine his later personality. Dietetics play a large part in producing a happy, even temperament, but the youngsters of today are fed by mothers who have personal acquaintance with the vitamin.

Children sometimes suffer from a feeling of not being as well dressed as the others, but understanding parents can explain that to be "cute" or popular does not depend upon fussy clothes. A few neat, becoming garments will serve that purpose.

What other environmental influences determine and develop the personality of a child? We have spoken before of the importance of imagination, stimulated through nonsense, literature, and music. Application of their imaginative faculty may be encouraged by allowing them to design the dresses for their dolls, decide the colors with which the wagon will be painted, select original names for their pets.

Another factor in molding a character is the influence of his early associates. Opinions conflict on this subject. Some say, "Let him fight, let him be tough, let him play in the street with whomever he pleases—I don't want him to be superior—and it will teach him to look out for himself."

Others strongly disapprove of hazardous associates. Another group recommends loneliness, with the in-with a weak, non-assertive playmate, or he may develop an inferiority complex, which will handicap him for tentation of making the child self-sufficient, mentally and spiritually, more imaginative, less silly. The idea in moderation is praiseworthy. However, parents everywhere will aver to the truth of the saying that "what one doesn't think of, the other does," denying that imagination is not likely to be lost in contact with normal, active children. And again, continued solitude leads to brooding, selfishness, timidity, and a lack of the give and take spirit.

Seldom are the qualities of leadership and mental in a child's companions considered. A youngster may become arrogant through association years from repeated disparagement by more brilliant friends.

This is clearly evident in the case of a boy who goes to school in a different town from his home and church town. At school his companions, knowing and caring nothing about the position of his parents, brand him as a mere nobody, on his own merits. Notwithstanding, he possesses a considerable amount of self-possession, which belies those characterizations, and

73,000 miles in a New Ford

THE substantial worth of the new Ford is reflected in its good performance, economy and reliability. Its stamina and endurance are particularly apparent in sections where bad roads and severe weather put a heavy extra burden on the automobile.

In less than a year a new Ford Tudor Sedan was driven more than seventy-three thousand miles over a difficult route. The operating cost per mile was very low and practically the only expense for repairs was for new piston rings and a new bearing for the generator.

The car carried an average load of 1200 pounds of mail and was driven 250 miles daily. "The Ford has never failed to go when I was ready," writes one of the three mail carriers operating the car. "The starter did the trick last winter even at 34 degrees below zero. The gas runs about 20 miles per gallon. At times I pull a trailer whenever I have a bulky load."

Many other Ford owners report the same satisfactory performance. Every part has been made to endure — to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles.

LYOYD BARNSTABLE WRITES ESSAY ON HIS HERD PROJECT

H. S. Boy Wins 11th Prize in 3-State Essay Contest

Lloyd Barnstable, a student in the vocational department of agriculture, under the direction of C. L. Kuttel, at the Antioch high school, was awarded eleventh prize by the Drovers' Journal who sponsored a contest for boys in vocational agriculture schools in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa. The essay follows:

Foundation for Dairy Herd.
 In the year 1928 I began high school and enrolled in vocational agriculture. I have many friends who had dairy calf projects, so naturally I chose the same kind of work when selecting my long time project at school. My agriculture teacher told me to select something that would be suitable for our home circumstances, and since my father had spoken a few times about getting Guernseys, I immediately decided that here was an opportunity to begin.

That October I purchased a fine purebred Guernsey heifer calf. With the help and ideas obtained from my father and teacher, I got along beautifully with my first heifer, always feeding a balanced growing ration and being very careful not to overfeed. Along about June, my instructor told me to prepare my calf for the Aurora fair. I did, and when the time arrived we left for the fair together with two truckloads of other cattle and poultry.

Receives a Surprise.
 Of course this was a new experience for me. We had a few days before the show to put on the finishing touches such as the polishing of horns and hoofs, and trimming up the head and tail. To my surprise the judge placed my calf in second position. At the county show I won first. All this encouraged me to start my 1930 project about which I am now to tell you.

In November, 1929, I purchased two more heifer calves and together with my senior heifer started this year's project.

Each of the small calves received a mixture of three pounds whole milk, four pounds water and three tablespoons full of a commercial calf meal twice a day. They got all the water and hay they wanted. I fed a mixture of clover and alfalfa hay. They also received a little ground grain rather early in life so as to get them used to it. When they were seven months old the milk and calf meal was discontinued altogether and a liberal ration consisting of ten pounds corn meal, ten pounds oil meal, thirty pounds wheat bran, twenty-five pounds ground barley and twenty-five pounds ground oats was fed.

Flies Are Nuisance.
 For a part of the early summer I had them out on pasture, but soon decided that the flies were too bad and the hot sun didn't do their skin any good so I took them back into the barn and blanketed them. Their skin softened and the hair got back its deep lustrous golden color. During all this time my senior heifer was subsisting on luscious alfalfa hay and the grain ration mentioned above. My instructor has often made the remark that "The master's eye fattens his cattle;" and so I fed according to the condition of the animals.

The last of August I showed my three calves at the county round-up. Here I placed first with the senior heifer and third and fifth with the other two. I also received second for excellence in herdmanship.

From this fair I took my three animals to the Aurora fair, where I not only gained a lot of experience but met future farmers from other schools. Here my senior heifer won fourth in the junior division and fifth in the open classes. My other two heifers received seventh and eighth placing.

Wins a Purple.
 Later at the Antioch county fair I won the grand championship over all breeds with my senior heifer. My other two winning first and second in their class. In all I won $85 in premiums. My project proved rather successful as can be seen from the following statement:

Parents Worked Up.

The enthusiasm gained from this year's project was carried over to my parents and this fall we bought a purebred cow with a heifer calf at her side. We also bought a bull calf. My first heifer freshened recently and had a very fine bull calf.

In the two years I now have a herd of five purebred females and two males whereas before, all our cattle were grades. This has been made possible through the help of my parents and the enthusiasm shown by my instructor of vocational agriculture.

This project is the one outstanding real experience that I have had, and I am certainly thankful for the opportunities that have presented themselves at such time when I was able to take advantage of them.

KNAVES, PIRATES DELIGHT AUDIENCE

King, Stanley Lucas and Fowle Simpson.

Technicians Add to Effect.

The grade school orchestra under the direction of Miss Eleanor Myers, stage settings prepared by the pupils of the art department, under the direction of Miss Alice Warner, and the properties in charge of Miss Mildred Byrnes were most adequate, and contributed largely to the stage pictures of the play. Effective stage lighting, under the charge of William Anderson and assistants, of the Public Service Co., also contributed much to the success of the performance.

The plays were produced under the direction of Mrs. G. E. Phillips. Just before the last act, W. C. Petty presented Mrs. Phillips with a beautifully illustrated copy of the Maxfield Parrish edition of "The Knave of Hearts" in behalf of the Parent-Teacher Association as a token of appreciation of her work.

THE ADVENTURES OF THE FAR NORTH

You youngsters most likely won't believe all of this yarn, but I figure you'll enjoy it anyway, so here goes. Years ago I was one o' th' crew of a sealing-schooner that had become frozen into th' ice away up in th' Arctic Circle. One mornin', as th' Aurora Borealis was paintin' th' sky with flashes of rainbow lights, I started out to see what I could find in that frozen land.

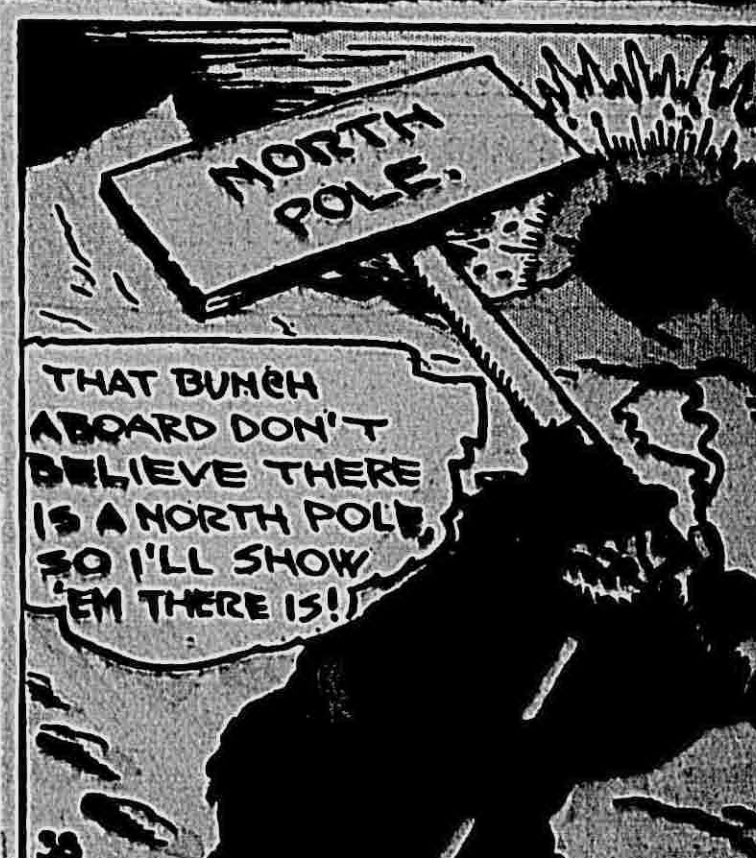

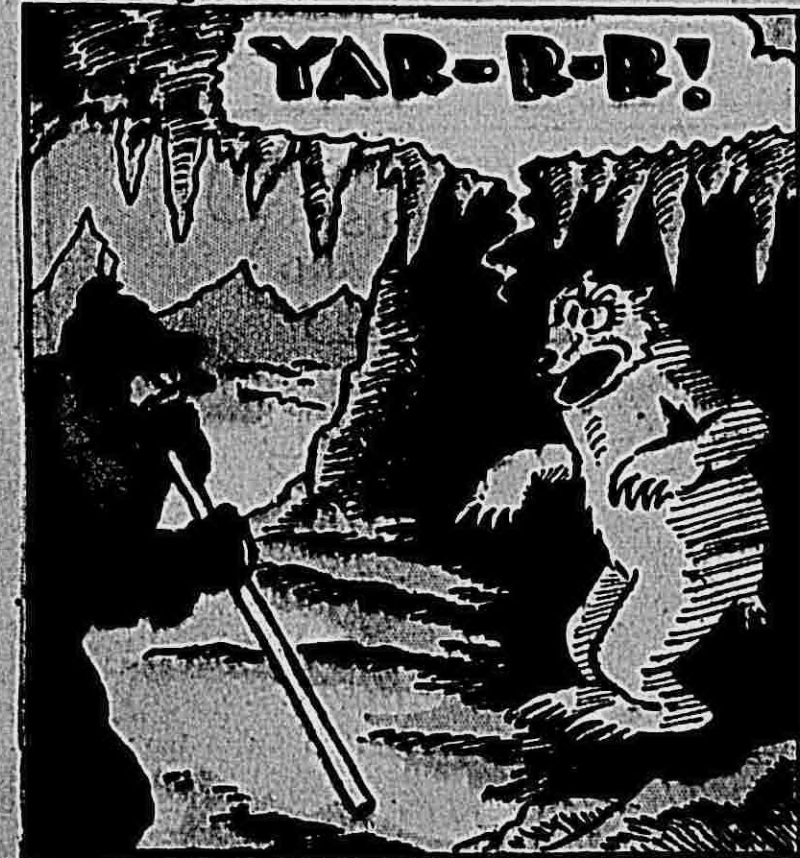

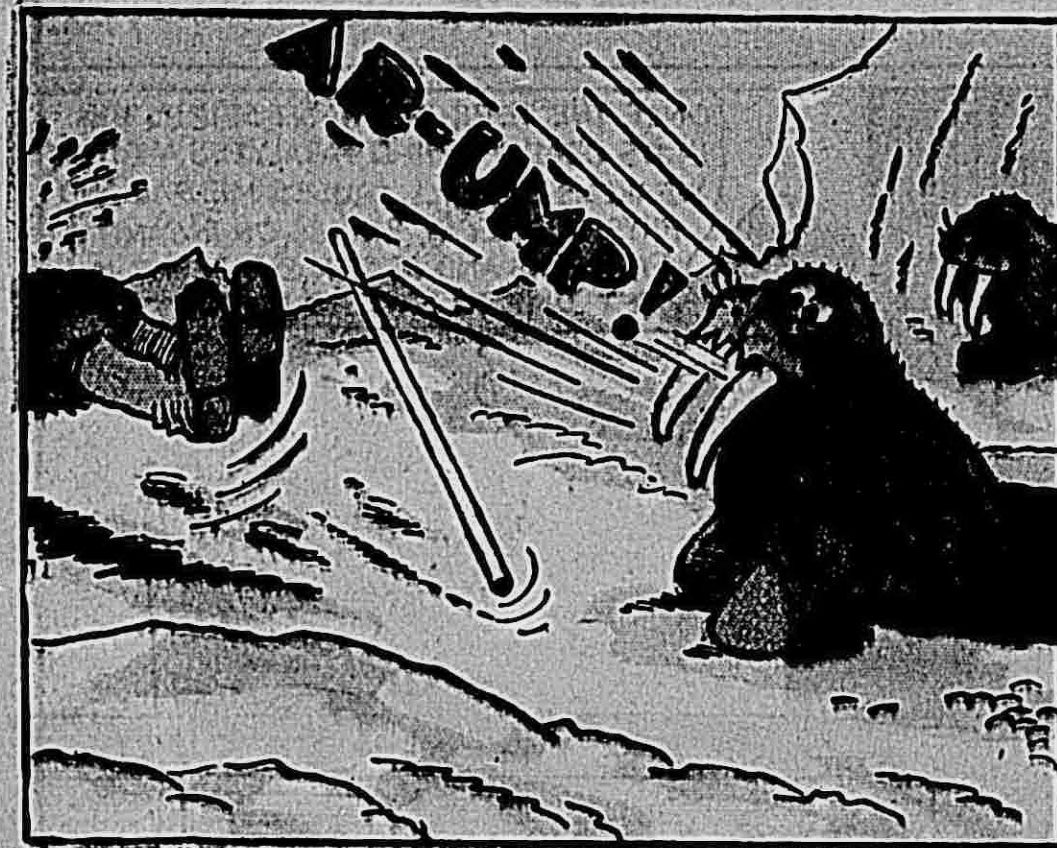

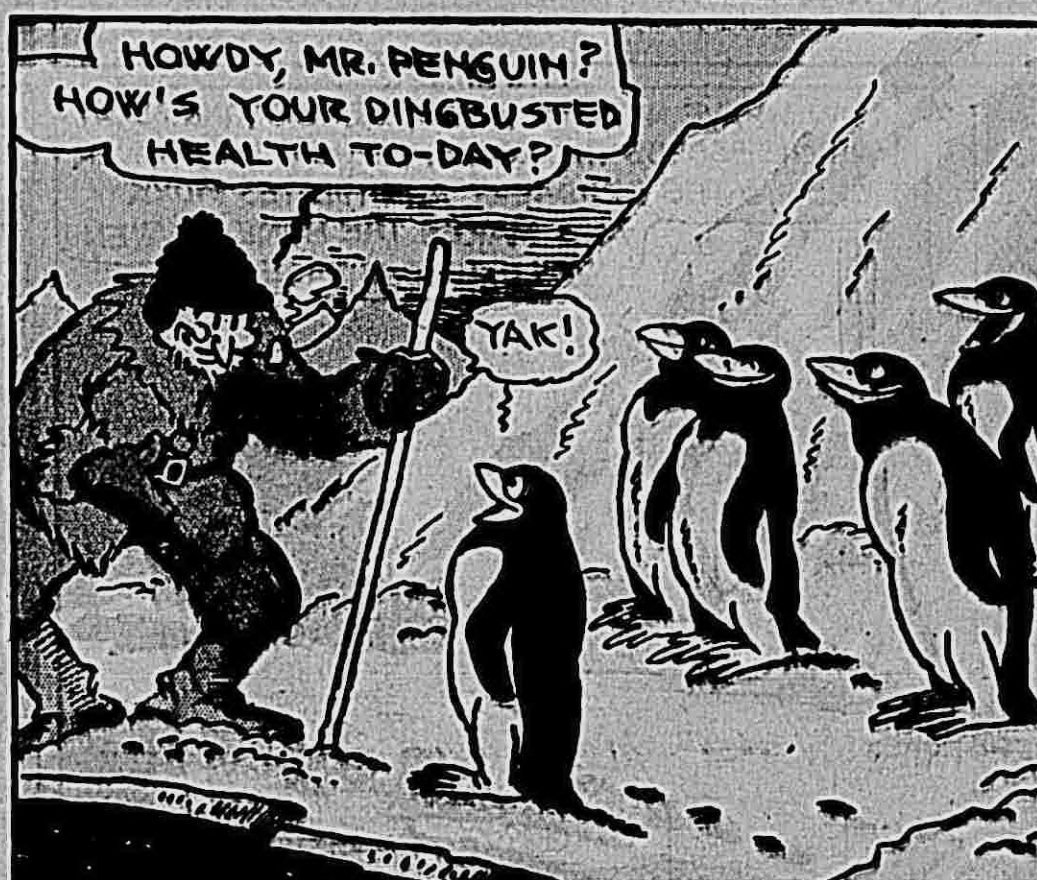

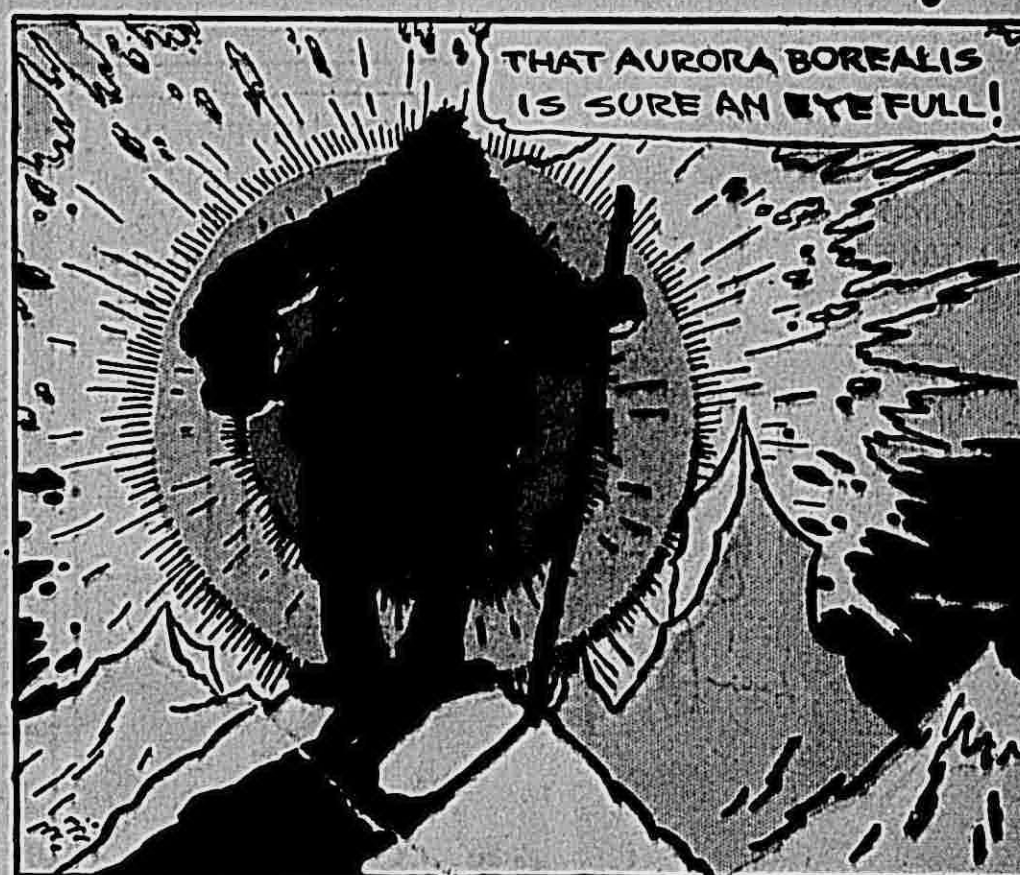

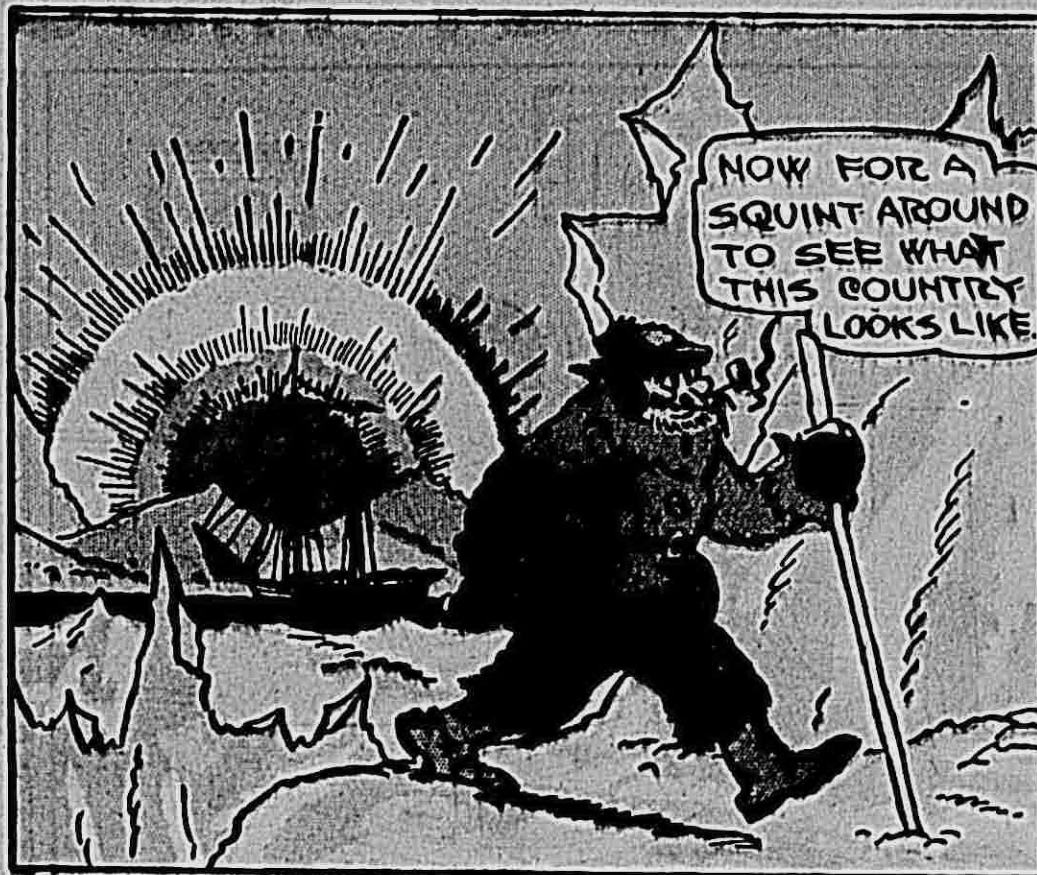

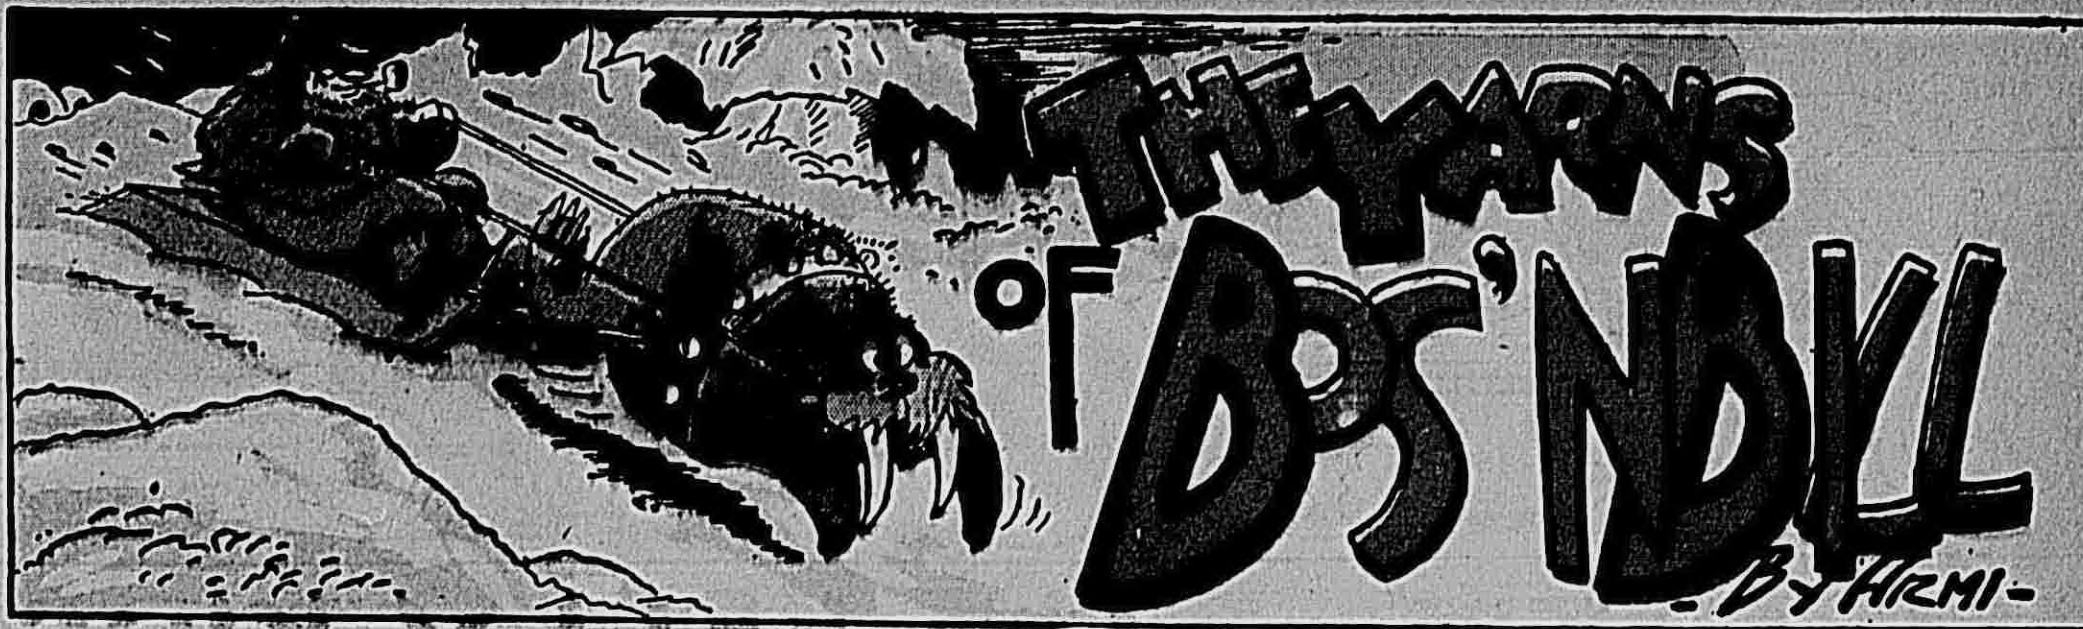

Well s'r, th' first thing I discovered was a pre-historic mastodon frozen inside a big iceberg, where it had likely been for thousands of years. A little later I rounded a snow-hill, and there was a bunch of penguins, waddlin' around like little old fat men all dressed up in evenin' clothes.

A little farther on I surprised a fat, wise-lookin' walrus, with bristly whiskers and long ivory tusks, leanin' on his front flippers at th' edge of th' water. He gave me a sour look when I said good mornin', and let out a roar that made th' Aurora Borealis lights shiver. I saw I wasn't wanted around there so I made for th' openin' of a cave I saw in th' distance.

It felt kinda spooky in that cave, it was so dark, quiet, and lonely-like. I was turnin' to get out when there was a roar that lifted me off my feet, and I saw a polar bear makin' for me. I lit out for a tall pole I had noticed standin' in th' snow and shinned to th' top of it in a hurry. Th' pole wasn't large enough around for th' bear to climb, so I had a good laugh as he made off for his cave.

And then, I discovered that I had climbed th' North Pole. I was so tickled I slid down, pulled it up out of th' snow and lugged it aboard th' schooner to show my mates what th' North Pole looked like.

A cartoon illustration showing a man on the left, balding with glasses, wearing a dark vest over a light shirt and tie, holding a tennis racket. He is holding out a small, dark rectangular box towards a woman on the right. The woman has a shocked expression, her mouth wide open, and is shouting. She is wearing a patterned dress and has her hands on her hips. A small child is cowering behind her. A large bag has fallen to the ground between them. Speech bubbles contain the text: 'LOOKIT THE SWELL CARPETBEATER AND COFFEE GRINDER I JUST SWAPPED FOR YOUR OLD AND USELESS ROCKIN' CHAIR!' and 'BACK TO SLAVERY!'. The scene is set indoors with a lattice screen in the background. The caption at the bottom reads 'WORLD COLOR PRINTING CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.'
